Service-specific terms

Select a production pilot with one usable deliverable, or a feasibility study with a defined investigation and finding. These are different outcomes. State the price, inputs, work limits, acceptance evidence, timeline and whether any prototype may be used in production. The quoted fee applies only to the selected pilot or investigation; it is not a free trial.

A negative or inconclusive finding can satisfy a feasibility engagement only when the agreed investigation and evidence are delivered. It does not satisfy a promised production build. Any pilot credit against future work must be written with its amount and conditions. No larger project, ongoing subscription or support purchase follows without separate approval.

Changes, acceptance and exit

Use one authorised approver for consolidated feedback. Correct agreed-scope defects at no additional charge; new direction or volume requires written approval of cost and timing. Define the review period and support window above. Silence is not automatic acceptance. Public release or consequential system changes require explicit authorisation.

Apply the completed MSA's correction, cancellation and refund terms. Allocate completed and undelivered value before payment; an advance is not automatically forfeited. Provider-undelivered work does not expire merely because a billing period ends. Document customer dependencies and a recovery plan. Ordinary agreed handover is included; extra transition work needs an approved estimate. A fixed project does not become a subscription without agreement.

Approval

MSA reference and approved departures: [identify]. Proposed terms selected: [complete]. Provider authorised signatory: [name, title, signature, date]. Customer authorised signatory: [name, title, signature, date]. Both parties receive all completed documents before signature.
